

2024 RSA Europe Summer College for PhD and Early Career Researchers

MIGRATION, WELL-BEING, AND SPATIAL INCLUSION

GSSI (Gran Sasso Science Institute), L'Aquila, Italy

22nd – 24th May 2024

The fifth RSA Europe College for PhD students and early career researchers brings together researchers in their early career, high-profile researchers, and policy experts to present latest research, policy developments and insights on migration, spatial inclusion, and regional development, through the lens of people's well-being. Keynote presentations by experienced and high-profile researchers will be complemented with professional development sessions, including on writing and publishing skills. The Summer College will be enriched by site visits to learn about how well-being, migration, and inclusion characterised local development strategies in selected localities in the region. The Summer college offers great opportunities for socialising and networking with a young and dynamic community from academia, experts in the field, and practitioners. We warmly invite applications from current PhD students and early career researchers.
